Hello Kids,

You have been wonderful in Spy School this year. You are great problem solvers and teammates! I have one final idea for you.

Hugs,

Mrs. Lessman

Spy School/Escape:

Spies go on missions and if they do their jobs well, the general public doesn’t find out the details of the missions. Sometimes, after time has passed, limited details about secret missions are released. We are experiencing our own mission right now and someday, you might want to share the details about this time with someone else. So, your mission this week is to make a time capsule. You can decide when to open the capsule as well as what goes into the capsule. I have included a list of ideas to get you started. Send me a photo if you like. My email is mindy.lessman@thompsonschools.org

Time Capsule Ideas

- Family photos
- News article about current events
- A favorite recipe
- A drawing or other original art project
- Titles of music or books that you are reading or listening to currently
- A list of goals that you have for yourself in the next month, year, 5 years, 10 years
